

Stop the War on Children Week of Action Social Media Toolkit

Here are a few simple ways to engage on social media during our Stop the War on Children Week of Action!

- Follow, retweet and share our posts!

@SCActionNetwork

@SavetheChildrenActionNetwork

@SavetheChildrenActionNetwork

- Use #STOPTHEWARONCHILDREN in all your posts.
- Take pictures! Be sure to take post content with photos from your events and activities!
- Tag people (@SCActionNetwork, fellow volunteers, event speakers and members of Congress)

Facebook

- A safe and quality education is key to a child's future. But in times of war, education is often disrupted leaving kids without critical support for learning, growth and stability. [@insert lamaker handle], help stop the war on children by ensuring children in conflict zones have access to education! <http://bit.ly/2LXxLBr>
- There are 142 million children living in high-intensity conflict zones. Their lives, schools and futures are in extreme risk. It's time for Congress to act to condemn attacks on schools and ensure children affected by conflict have a chance at education! <http://bit.ly/2LXxLBr>

Twitter

- The world is failing to protect vulnerable children from the horrors of conflict. Join me in telling the world to #STOPTHEWARONCHILDREN! [insert a photo of yourself a photo gallery or local event]
- The war on children will only stop when all of us – from citizens & community leaders to lawmakers – respect the idea that children should always be off-limits in war. Together, let's #STOPTHEWARONCHILDREN. <http://bit.ly/2LXxLBr>
- Today, nearly 1 in 5 children around the world are living in conflict zones. Schooling often stops when kids' lives are at risk. [@insert lamaker handle], help #STOPTHEWARONCHILDREN by ensuring children in conflict zones have access to education! <http://bit.ly/2LXxLBr>

Instagram: I'm proud to be volunteering with @savethechildrenactionnetwork this week to urge our lawmakers to protect children around the world. Did you know that nearly 1 in 5 children around the world are living in conflict zones? Some of them have lost everything: their favorite books, their home and their friends. No child deserves this. Join me in telling the world to #STOPTHEWARONCHILDREN! [insert a photo of yourself a photo gallery or local event and tag lawmakers]